

Yalobusha Review

Volume 5

Article 11

8-1-1999

Obituary

Kristen Harty

Follow this and additional works at: <https://egrove.olemiss.edu/yr>

Recommended Citation

Harty, Kristen (1999) "Obituary," Yalobusha Review: Vol. 5 , Article 11.
Available at: <https://egrove.olemiss.edu/yr/vol5/iss1/11>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the English at eGrove. It has been accepted for inclusion in Yalobusha Review by an authorized editor of eGrove. For more information, please contact egrove@olemiss.edu.

Kristin Harty
Obituary

Neighbors finally reported a smell at 507 Johnson Avenue on September 17, when the temperature was nearly 80. Police immediately investigated. Found on the floor was Anabelle Jones, 84, her flesh decomposed and nearly rotted down to bone. Dead about six weeks, according to the coroner.

Neighbors said she kept to herself, so it was really hard to miss her. Son traveled a lot with his job; said it was difficult to arrange many visits. Daughter had become estranged when her mother became eccentric; called occasionally on the holidays; sent a package of cold meats and cheeses.